OVERVIEW

Founded in 1872 as the first college of the University of Melbourne, Trinity College is a unique tertiary institution that provides a diverse range of academic programs to talented students from across Australia and around the world.

Trinity College programs include:

- the Residential College for undergraduate and postgraduate students of the University of Melbourne and of the Trinity College Theological School, both resident and non-resident
- Trinity College Theological School (TCTS), a centre for Anglican theology and ministry that educates people, lay and ordained, to work for the transformation of church and society
- Trinity College Foundation Studies (TCFS), which offers a range of one-year courses that prepare able overseas students for undergraduate entry to the University of Melbourne and other leading Australian universities
- the Trinity Institute, which offers inspirational leadership programs for high school students, innovative professional development, and thought-provoking open learning opportunities for all.

Trinity College actively contributes to the life of the wider University and its main campus is located adjacent to the University grounds.

An Anglican institution, Trinity welcomes people of all faiths and none. The College celebrates, and is enriched by, the diversity of backgrounds of its staff and students.

Trinity student numbers in all parts of the College in 2013 were:

WARDEN'S REPORT

Trinity College has always sought to provide its students in all programs with educational experiences of outstanding quality.

In recent years we have increasingly become aware that students and their families and other supporters are making choices based on a wider, and indeed global, set of possibilities.

Trinity's Foundation Studies program has been drawing students from around Asia and across the world for over 24 years now, providing us all with a very concrete reminder of that shrinking educational globe. Resident students too are increasingly considering Trinity not only as one among the options available in Melbourne, but as a means of obtaining a world-class educational experience at the University of Melbourne. This is reflected particularly in the growing number of interstate applications we receive.

Through 2012 and 2013 the Board of the College and others involved in our leadership and governance worked to develop a strategic plan that reflected our aspirations and addressed these challenges. It has three key elements:

- Access: We are committed to providing access to Trinity and to our University partners' programs to students from diverse backgrounds, offering them transformative opportunities regardless of their means.
- Experience: We seek to provide educational and other experiences that reflect cutting-edge ideas, outstanding quality of facilities and services, and otherwise match our global competitors – except where we surpass them!

- Opportunity: We intend the Trinity experience to be the beginning of a lifetime of engagement, supported by our alumni network and new programs for existing and past students that will assist them to pursue their ambitions.

Concretely, this led us to plan in 2013 for a number of significant initiatives to be implemented as the 2014 year unfolds. We have created a Careers and Further Studies office to assist with the 'Opportunity' strand. We have created a Centre for Advanced Studies to build our visiting scholars program as a resource for the 'Experience' we aspire to for all students, in residence, Foundation Studies and Theology. Our 'Access' emphasis is embodied in the restructuring of our Foundation Studies and related programs such as Summer Schools into a new Pathways School that will seek new means of engaging Australian as well as international students. And we are planning a new 'Gateway' building that will serve all these purposes.

This will be my last full year as Warden; so it gives me pleasure to report that during 2013, as always, Trinity was building on its much-valued traditions with energy, discipline and faith.

COUNCIL

As the peak governance body of the College, the Council's role is to ensure observance of the Trinity Constitution and to provide advice to the Board, the Warden and the other senior officers of the College.

The 40-member Council consists of representatives of all major sectors of the Trinity College community, including students, staff, alumni, donors, the Church and the University, presided over by the Archbishop of Melbourne. The Council meets twice each year.

In May, it approved the 2012 Annual Report of the College. Council also appointed Mr Jim Craig as the new Chair of the Board from July, and re-appointed Professor David Studdert for a further two-year term. In November the Council elected

Mr Richard Tudor to the Board, and re-elected Professor Pip Pattison and elected Ms Kathleen Bailey-Lord and the Revd Lynda McMinn to the Council. After re-electing Bishop Grant, Associated Professor Tony Buzzard and Mr Bill Cowan as members of the Fellows Committee, the Council heard presentations from Mr Peter Elliott regarding the College's Master Plan, and from Mr J Craig Brown on progress with design of a new education building proposed for the southeastern precinct of the main campus.

BOARD

The 12 members of the Board focus on strategic and governance matters related to the future position of the College in the sector and in the community.

Regular presentations are made to the Board by the various teaching and support divisions of the College, as well as by external consultants as required.

The Board monitors the College's performance by way of a set of more than 40 Key Performance Indicators that assess the College's financial and administrative operations, risk mitigation and management strategies. An annual self-evaluation survey is also undertaken by each member of the Board. The Board has committees that oversee Buildings and Grounds, Education Strategy, Finance, Fundraising, Governance, Investment Management, Risk Management including OH&S and the Theological School. Committee prepares a written annual report for the Board.

During 2013, the Board held eight meetings. Key discussions included International Strategy, the Southern Gateway project, the Strategic Plan, the Annual Risk Review, Operating and Capital Budgets, Fundraising, future arrangements with the University of Melbourne related to Foundation Studies, and the Student and Staff Codes of Conduct. The Board also approved a range of major infrastructure projects including the landscaping works for the Sharwood Court and Wynne Cottage/Kitchens North, the Jeopardy Stage 2 and Behan Stage 1 Renovation, and a new telephony contract.

Mr Jim Craig took up the role of Chairman of the Board in July, following the retirement of Mr Bill Cowan after eight years as Chair. The Board re-appointed Ms Kathleen Bailey-Lord and Mr Charles Sitch, but farewellled Ms Jodi Fullarton-Healey and Professor David Studdert in October. Ms Anna Traill followed Mr Matthew Hargreaves as Senior Student of the College, an ex officio position on the Board.

The Board held a Retreat in October, and refined the Vision and Strategic Plan for the College. Progress on each of the Strategic Plan objectives was also reviewed. In particular, the Board endorsed the use of the name 'Pathways School' rather than 'International Programs'. The Board further endorsed the concept of a Centre for Advanced Studies and a Careers and Further Studies Office, as well as the progress and direction of the scholarships strategic plan.

FINANCIAL PERFORMANCE

The College performed considerably better than budget in 2013 due in large part to Foundation Studies' enrolments exceeding expectations.

The international student market for Foundation Studies showed a strong upswing and continues to show signs of growth. This is driven, among other things, by the University of Melbourne's strong global and regional ranking and Foundation Studies being a premier pathway program.

The charts below show a breakdown of the sources of College income and areas of College expenditure. Fee income is clearly the main source of income, representing three quarters of all income, while Investment Income is 7%, and donations, 5%. Salaries and staff related costs represented half of College expenditure in 2013.

Donations to Trinity College and to the Foundation were again strong, with funds donated for scholarships, teaching and lectureships, educational programs, and for the Warden's and Dean's discretionary funds.

The College spent some $3 million on capital works to improve infrastructure and operations. Major projects included refurbishment of Jeopardy and Behan student rooms, the remaining landscaping works for the Vatican Lawn, Sharwood Court and Kitchens, the completion of the desktop/laptop replacement project, and the deposit on the purchase of 73 Royal Parade.

The performance of investment funds was 2% higher than the benchmark portfolio's performance of +21%. These investment funds support the College through the funding of scholarships and studentships, and contributing to teaching, building projects and other activities. The Board, through the Finance and Investment Management Committees, regularly reviews the College's investment performance and fund

INDIGENOUS EDUCATION

Trinity continued to pursue important Indigenous initiatives and programs.

There were 20 Indigenous students in residence and many school students spent time living on campus for Trinity Young Leaders Programs, the University of Melbourne RISE camp for Science, a Yalari orientation camp, and individual periods of work experience in the city. Important partnerships were maintained with Yalari, the Smith Family, Ganbina in Shepparton and the Aurora Foundation.

The College played a pivotal role in the Bachelor of Arts (Extended) degree through teaching transition subjects and meeting funding needs for teaching. Support for the University saw success in establishing a new funding partnership with Investec Bank and the beginning of a valuable link with the Sydney-based Australian Indigenous Education Foundation led by Andrew Penfold. There was also important engagement in the development of the drawdowns to ensure that programs and activities are supported adequately while also endeavoring to ensure endowed funds are maintained in real terms for the long term.

2013 Expenditure

Bachelor of Science Extended, and the support of the Leith Foundation in funding curriculum development is acknowledged with thanks.

The Trinity Young Indigenous Writers Prize for Poetry and Short Fiction, the inspiration of alumnus Peter Gebhardt, was launched in October. The annual prize, open to Indigenous writers under 30, will offer a cash prize and a period as writer in residence at Trinity.

The annual student trip to Minyerri and Darwin was complemented by a new expedition into Yolngu country in North East Arnhem Land. Five students and a staff member spent ten remarkable days with the Lirrwi Yolngu Tourism Aboriginal Corporation, and the support and encouragement of alumnus Mark Carnegie was central to the expedition.

SUSTAINABILITY

The 2013 Sustainability Interns, Hanna McCreath and Sam Hartley, played an important role in delivering the College's Sustainability strategy.

The 2013 initiatives included distributing keep-cups and water bottles to students; placing recycling bins in student rooms; hosting 'Clean Up Australia Day'; establishing a partnership with Ormond College and engaging with inter-collegiate working committees on sustainability; distributing information and showcasing sustainability at Trinity; and 're-launching' the Trinity College Sustainability Facebook page as a tool for communication and participating in the reactivation of the 'Theme 1' strategies.

The installation of double-glazing and hydronic heating to all student and tutor rooms as part of the Jeopardy building refurbishment has resulted in a significant drop in Jeopardy's electricity consumption of around 54% (85,000 kwh) compared to 2012.

A progress report was prepared on the achievement of the targets set in the Sustainability Strategy (2010) for achievement by 2022. The College is ahead in areas of water, waste and gas, but is behind target for electricity usage, travel and 'carbon-neutral events'. A new Theme 1 working group was set up in 2013 comprising students, staff and some service providers to set a path to get those areas on track for 2022 targets. Work will continue on this in the first half of 2014.

RESIDENTIAL COLLEGE

The residential College year ended on a bright note: in the second semester the students attained the best academic results of the past decade. The resident community was a harmonious one, well led by the senior students and supported effectively by the staff.

Students embraced the more flexible tutoring offered in the form of individual consultations, or small group teaching for 2 or 3 students, and results continued to be very good. Extra-curricular tutorials in music were well attended, as were the innovative 3D printing workshops. The Fireside Chat series proved popular. Highlights included evenings with Professor Marcia Langton, Mr Adam Bandt, MP, and Miegunyah Fellow and eminent historian Professor Richard Immerman.

The non-resident program was boosted in the first semester by the admission of 15 students who elected to wait until July for the opportunity to enter the residential College. The program has been consolidated as a purely academic one based on tutorial support, and numbers are expected to remain low in the immediate future.

An important initiative in 2013 was engagement with all second year students in a more focussed professional mentoring program. Half of the second year students took up the opportunity to participate in an individual 'life review' with the Dean and Head of Academic Programs.

A second initiative concerned student wellbeing and mental health in particular. The College employed a nurse from Semester Two, as a point of assessment and management of chronic conditions; and engaged with professional organisations to develop health and wellbeing programs and a pool of appropriate resources. The chaplain played a central role in identifying resources and building new programs.

Student life was rich and varied. The play Così, and the musical, A Chorus Line, were excellent and demanding productions that were enjoyed greatly. The College again flourished in a range of artistic and cultural pursuits, and the students are commended on retaining the Intercollegiate Shield for the Arts.

Other highlights included public concerts for the a capella groups the Candystripes and the Trinity Tiger Tones; a cultural exchange visit from College House, New Zealand; and a now 'traditional' celebration of student music at the Big Day In festival. The Trinity College Orchestra grew happily under the leadership of conductor Patrick Miller, and the concert held in November was excellent.

Tutoring services with the River Nile and Australian Indigenous Mentoring Experience continued, while individuals contributed strongly to tutoring with the Smith Family. The drive for blood donations was also well supported.

The combined efforts of the women and men in intercollegiate sports saw Trinity finish a very close second in the overall competition. Of particular note was the women's success in the 1st VIII rowing, and an inaugural win for the women in football.

The two Senior Students, Mr Matthew Hargreaves (2012–13) and Ms Anna Traill (2013–14), and the two committees of the student leadership group, the Trinity College Associated Clubs, were instrumental in building a strong sense of community. Dr Sally Dalton-Brown, Mr Jeff Richardson, Ms Toni Roberts and the Revd Lynda McMinn, our new Chaplain, worked tirelessly to lead, organise and manage student life, and it was a delight to welcome Ms Andrea Ball as College Nurse.

Mr Paul Broussard, Mr Ben Carson, Dr Alyce Lim, Mr Jason Quin and Ms Kellie Mathers finished their terms as resident tutors in 2013, and left with sincere thanks for their important roles in College life. We also farewelled spouses and occasional tutors and student mentors Ms Diana Carson and Mr Nathan Jessup, both great enthusiasts for collegiate education and Trinity.

TRINITY COLLEGE FOUNDATION STUDIES

Trinity College Foundation Studies (TCFS) is an award-winning, one-year course that annually prepares up to 900 overseas students for undergraduate entry to the University of Melbourne and other leading Australian universities.

The high academic standards of TCFS students are reflected in the table below, giving statistics from the 2012–2013 intakes. Following the introduction of iPad technology in the classroom in 2011, and the ensuing 2012 improvement in average student performance, 2013 has confirmed that upward trend.

Teaching methods and student learning have both improved through the renewal program that accompanied the new technology. All Main and Fast Track intakes have delivered strong results. A greater proportion than usual received offers of places at the University of Melbourne.

In 2013, TCFS outstripped all competitors, with an almost 20% increase in enrolments over 2012, itself 14% above the preceding year. This produced a record number of new enrolments in 2013 of 933, a testimony to the quality and good reputation of the program.

Such rapid growth has generated some challenges in terms of finding the additional teaching facilities in which to operate. This work will continue into 2014, as enrolment growth is likely to continue.

The College Board remains committed to ‘future-proofing’ the College’s sources of extra revenue from its educational initiatives, and the opportunities to create new, additional and more diversified program offerings were actively pursued in 2013. This has also laid the groundwork for the new Pathways School organisational entity, to commence in January 2014. Consolidation of the existing pre-university and preparatory programs of the College – the Young Leaders Programs, the Bachelor of Arts (Extended) and the Trinity Institute bespoke programs – has been a major part of the strategic work of 2013.

In August, the College signed an Agreement regarding the TCFS program with the University of Melbourne, the outcome of many months of negotiation. This is the first formal, mutually binding agreement between the College and the University regarding TCFS in its 24-year history. It will serve to enhance the collaboration and strategic planning for TCFS and afford the program a greater certainty and security.

In September, a party of around 50 TCFS students and staff headed to Central Australia, a wonderful opportunity for international students to see more of the country and to better understand the world of Indigenous Australians and the unique Australian landscape. The tour was resoundingly successful.

TRINITY COLLEGE THEOLOGICAL SCHOOL

The Theological School at Trinity College has had a successful year in 2013. Student numbers were high, and the School continues its tradition of providing in-depth and relevant programs for students studying theology and ministry formation, whether for lay or ordained ministries.

In November, nine students were ordained Priest in the Diocese of Melbourne, as well as others ordained as Deacon across the Province of Victoria. Sadly, the Revd Soraya Christie, newly-ordained Deacon from the Maori community, passed away in February. She had attended the Theological School in 2012.

Visitors to the School included Archbishop Philip Freier, who addressed our students on critical issues concerning mission, evangelism and ministry.

Negotiations with the United Faculty of Theology (UFT) continued this year, and also with the University of Divinity. Next year, 2014, will be something of a transition year for the School, when it will develop new models of partnership with the UFT and the University.

Faculty members had a fruitful year lecturing, engaging in research and undertaking speaking engagements across the Church. They attended international conferences, in places as far afield as North America, Sweden and England.

In August, Professor Frank Brennan SJ AO gave the 43rd Barry Marshall Memorial Lecture at Trinity College, speaking on the theme "The Public, the Church and Asylum Seekers;" his paper was well received.

The College Retreat was held at Pallotti College in August. The retreat conductor, Fr John Stewart from the Living Well Centre, spoke on the story of the Road to Emmaus.

New Adjunct Faculty members have included the Very Revd Dr Andreas Loewe, the Revd Dr Hugh Kempster, Dr Katherine Firth, the Revd Dr Richard Treloar, and the Revd Dr Don Saines. The Revd Dr Craig D'Alton has contributed significantly to the life of the School and the Faculty as the St Mary's Lecturer in Anglican Studies. The Revd Jasmine Dow became the second Morna Sturrock Fellow in the Theological School. Dr Megan Warner was farewelled in November and has left for London. We were sorry to see her go, as she had contributed much to the life of the School.

Finance is never an easy issue in the Theological School, but we were blessed to receive the Geoff and Edith Pitcher Fund for $100,000 for each of five years. This has enabled us, among other things, to offer scholarships to students to study full-time in the School.

TRINITY INSTITUTE

The Trinity Institute includes the Young Leaders Program, Conferences and Events, and various short courses offered with strategic partners.

Overall, this has been the most successful year to date for all areas of the Institute. Before 2013, the Young Leaders Program (YLP) was offered only in July and December. This year, however, brought much innovation and partnerships to run hybrid models of YLP with various strategic partners, including:

- a leadership weekend with 30 outstanding Year 10 indigenous students from all over Australia with Yalari Foundation
- a new YLP offering in partnership with Engage Education Foundation, a youth organisation founded by Trinity College alumni where 25 low socioeconomic students were fully funded to participate
- a 'Doing Business in the Asia Pacific Region' program for masters-level prospective international students visiting the Business and Commerce faculty
- a science exposure program called RISE for Year 9–10 Indigenous Victorian students in partnership with the University of Melbourne
- the Juilliard Jazz School, which brought 40 outstanding high-school musicians in contact with Juilliard's finest jazz musicians for one week in July.

These programs were in addition to our regular YLP, which broke records for numbers in July, with 216 program enrolments. Over half of these students were from Australia. As the July 2009 program had only 12 students, and each was international, this is a significant achievement. In April, Dr Brenda Holt had the opportunity to present the YLP to the Ministry of Education in Malaysia, which resulted in endorsement of the program for outstanding Malaysian students; this will bring significant new funding and students.

In August, we launched a promotional video about the YLP. The University of Melbourne Marketing and Admissions teams have embraced the video as it talks explicitly about the University becoming a pathway for students after attending a YLP program. Using the University of Melbourne brand and ranking has been strategic in allowing us into a greater number of schools in South-East Asia.

The Conference and Events programs have also had a good year, not only financially, but also through the strategic partnerships established, nurtured or maintained. The College owes an enormous amount to Mark Gordon, who is leaving the College after eight years as the Manager of Conferences. Mark has done an outstanding job building this business into what it is today. A full list of conference groups for 2013 is given in the Appendix.

ADVANCEMENT

On numerous fronts, Trinity enjoyed a successful year in its Advancement activities. This was strengthened by a supportive and engaged College community, who believe in enhancing the educational experience we provide.

We remain deeply appreciative of the generous support of our many donors, and acknowledge the ways in which their generosity supports the College's continued success. In 2013, our Annual Giving program raised close to $550K, a 45% increase on 2012. We received $1.4 million in Major Gifts – 20% more than the previous year. During the year the Advancement team also secured over $900,000 in pledges, which will convert to cash donations in the coming years.

A further $100,000 was pledged to the Theology School, being the first installment of a $500,000 pledge over five years. The work of the Revd Canon Dr Ray Cleary, the Revd Professor Dorothy Lee and Bishop Grant to secure this gift was much appreciated.

Thanks to the many College supporters, we now can award over $1 million a year in scholarships, which makes up almost 15% of total residential fees. Donors also made significant contributions to the Choir, our Indigenous programs, our Young Leaders programs, and to buildings and grounds, which included the renovation of the Behan Building (pictured).

Fundraising figures alone do not reveal the investment in future potential giving. In 2013 we had 600 individual donors, which was a 13% increase on 2012. More importantly, 120 of these were new donors to the College.

The fundraising efforts were supported by numerous alumni-engagement activities. During the year 1,800 people attended a range of events. Of them, 600 attended on multiple occasions. We were excited to see some 500 people attend our events for the first time in five years.

Strong attention was also placed in connecting with our Foundation Studies alumni. We ran reunions in Malaysia, Singapore, Hong Kong and Melbourne. Some 200 people attended these events, and we now have over 500 correct email addresses for our Foundation Studies alumni.

The year also saw its share of staff change. In January Mr Scott Charles, the Director of Advancement, commenced, as did Ms Kate Stewart, our Events Coordinator, and Ms Mia Yourn, the Advancement Team Administrator. Ms Jennifer Wraith, who works in the Major Gifts area, joined us for the last four months of the year; and in December we recruited a new Communications Manager, Mr Ben Zipper. Also joining the team were Ms Deirdre Sheehan as the graphic designer, and Ms Dawn Leicester as special projects officer. The team has not grown in size; these people have either taken up roles that were already vacant or replaced the two staff members who moved to other organisations during the year: Ms Penny Harth and Ms Nicole Crook.

Looking forward, the Advancement team has been busy developing a fundraising strategy for the new Southern Gateway Building. We are excited to note that the building is currently going through the town planning process.

With the Southern Gateway Building forming a key aspect of the College's strategic objective of providing a transformational education experience for students, the new building signifies a new and exciting chapter for the College.

OTHER COLLEGE-WIDE DEPARTMENTS

ART AND ARCHIVES

This year saw the College's two major cultural collections come under the responsibility of a single role in the Rusden Curator, with concentrated efforts made to strengthen the archival holdings and promote both collections.

Two new portrait commissions commenced during 2013, scheduled for completion in early 2014. Since the re-opening of the renovated Dining Hall in late 2012, the portrait hang has been refreshed and accompanied by an updated edition of the successful room brochure, 'A Quick Guide to the Portrait Collection in the Dining Hall'.

At the beginning of 2013, the Dean, Mr Campbell Bairstow, and his wife Ms Jill Gregory, generously loaned a series of works on paper to the College for display in the new reception foyer. Djalkiri: The Blue Mud Bay series is a body of collaborative works on paper by Indigenous and non-Indigenous artists. The series of eight works has been incredible well received, and the College has been fortunate to acquire the last remaining folio of this series to augment its existing art holdings.

Adding a new dimension to the portrait collection was the completion of the College's first major photographic portrait of inaugural Indigenous scholarship recipients, Sana Nakata (TC 2001) and Lilly Brown née Brophy (TC 2001), by photographic artist Hayden Golder.

A series of temporary exhibitions have been held across the College, including works by Melbourne print artist John Shirlow, recent State Library of Victoria Creative Fellow Nicholas Jones, as well as digital student works on the Dining Hall café screen.

A central priority during 2013 has been to strengthen the documentation of the archival holdings and foster a greater engagement with the College's significant heritage. In September, a new Facebook page for the collections was launched, which has been enthusiastically received.

As in past years, the collections have benefitted through the generosity of people who have either lent or given art works and material documenting the College's heritage.

CHAPLAINCY

The Chaplaincy team offers regular worship opportunities, pastoral support and advice to all members of Trinity, be they students, staff, parents, friends, alumni or members of the wider university and Parkville communities.

During 2013, the team included the Revd Lynda McMinn as joint College Chaplain, with a responsibility to the Residential College, the Revd Christopher Carolane, joint College Chaplain with responsibility for Foundation Studies, and the Revd Jasmine Dow as Associate Chaplain.

Choral Evensong, with the Trinity Choir, was sung every Sunday evening during term time, and occasionally featured professorial lectures.

Chaplaincy to the Residential College included a strengthened pastoral-care program. Lynda has worked with the residential team to develop a program that will grow resilient students. Chris has worked closely with other members of the Foundation Studies student welfare team and the counsellor throughout 2013. Both students and staff have sought his counsel for personal and/or professional matters.

A weekly Bible Study has been held throughout the year in the Prayer Space at Swanston Street. Chris conducted the first Trinity College and Friends Cambodian Service Project in January.

Student clubs run through Chaplaincy included a knitting club and singing club. The third Central Australia Adventure trip was highly successful in the September/October holiday period, with 49 students attending.

In December, the Chaplains, Music and Advancement staff again produced two well-attended and beautifully sung services of lessons and carols, where funds were raised for the Brotherhood of St Laurence and the Christmas bowl. The program differed slightly from previous years, with the Trinity Choir presenting a Sunday Live broadcast from Melbourne's ABC studios.

THE CHOIR OF TRINITY COLLEGE

Another very busy year started for the Choir with the traditional Workshop Week on 17 February.

A busy schedule of concerts included the visit of Eric Whitacre, well-known American composer and conductor, in April. He worked with the choir for three days, culminating in a concert at Monash University on 13 April.

Australian composer Nigel Westlake asked the choir to be part of the 'Happiness and its Causes' Conference in Melbourne in June, where they sang an a cappella work excerpted from Nigel's Missa Solis – Requiem for Eli. The choir was also invited to present a lunchtime concert as part of the entertainment program for the quadrennial International Congress of Voice Teachers in Brisbane.

In August the choir again participated in the Melbourne University Anatomy Department's Service of Thanksgiving for those who have donated their bodies for medical research and anatomy.

The Anglican aged-care provider Benetas celebrated 65 years at the end of October in St Paul's Cathedral. Michael Leighton Jones was commissioned to write a festal setting of the Mass. The Choir premiered the 'Nostalgic Mass' for the occasion, along with two anthems by Philip Matthias.

The year ended with further recording sessions in the week leading up to the Carol Services, and the choir sang for the Sunday Live broadcast on ABC Classic FM, with Marshall McGuire (harp). This program included two first broadcast performances: 'I Saw Three Ships' by Stuart Greenbaum, and Triptych by Michael Leighton Jones.

Dr Joshua van Konkelenberg was appointed College Organist on his return from studies in the UK, and we began the year with two Junior Organ Scholars, Myfanwy Macindoe and Thomas Baldwin. Hugh Fullarton (Organ Scholar 1995-1998) became College Organist on Dr van Konkelenberg's resignation in May, while Myfanwy also left to pursue further organ studies in Germany.

Michael Leighton Jones announced his retirement, to occur at Easter 2014, after 17 years as the Director of Music.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY SERVICES

Information Technology Services (ITS) developed a five-year IT & AV Strategic Plan, conducted a security audit and continued work on the network improvement project, audio visual facilities and web applications.

ITS consulted with divisions across the College to develop a 2013–2017 IT & AV Strategic Plan, which underpins the overall College strategy. A cornerstone of the new strategy is to fully deliver an enhanced data and voice network, a major multi-year undertaking that began in 2012.

Among the 43 projects that ITS delivered in 2013 were improvements to audio in the Chapel, and installation of an audio system and special lectern in the Old Warden's Lodge space. In response to the increasing use of tablets and smart phones for website access, and in line with the external website usability improvements made in 2012, the Trinity College Portal underwent a responsive design makeover to make the site more mobile device-friendly.

Major benefits have been realised through the Foundation Studies online enquiries and applications system, allowing prospective students to submit applications via the Trinity website, ready for processing by Admissions staff.

A consulting firm was appointed to review aspects of the College's IT security arrangements, as well as making attempts to compromise security. The result was a favourable report, with recommendations to enhance IT security at the College.

LIBRARY

The year was characterised by new technology, significant bequests, intriguing art and extensive use by students.

The entire year saw the library filled to capacity with students from across the College, using the space for study or to request resources for their various programs. Over 100,000 users passed through our doors this year.

Major achievements for the Library include the successful installation of the new RFID (Radio Frequency ID) technology, a new state of the art security system to track library resources; the addition of Portfolio to the library's suite of software, a module that will allow digital resources to be added and searched via the online catalogue; and the effective handling of the myriad requests from students and researchers.

We received a significant bequest of books from the estate of Professor A G L Shaw, and other significant donations from Professor Robin Sharwood, Dr Barbara Cargill and Professor Miles Nicholls.

The Library hosted an intriguing exhibition of book sculptures called 'Unpacking the Library' by sculptor Nicholas Jones. The exhibit featured old books that had been carved into interesting contours, characters and forms.

We have also been exploring the new world of eResources and online teaching with the College. We have increased our eBook collection as we take steps to becoming a modern digital library. The Deputy Librarian and Library Technician carried out a successful program of information literacy training with Foundation Studies students. Library orientation tours were conducted by all members of staff for over 1,000 students during the year.

STAFF ACHIEVEMENTS

Gayle Allan contributed an article entitled 'Home Sweet Home: Representation of Domestic Spaces in Macbeth' to the journal Shakespeare on Screen: Macbeth Edition, Dec. 2013 (Universités de Rouen et du Havre). Gayle was the technical and research assistant on a digital humanities project, which this year won the Society for the Study of Early Modern Women award for the best art and media project. The website is entitled Mary Wroth's Poetry, An Electronic Edition (wroth.latrobe.edu.au).

Rosemary Blight graduated with a PhD from the University of Melbourne in March with a thesis titled 'Creating Indigenous Futures: Using Applied Theatre to Construct a Participatory Creative Space for Indigenous Australian Young People'. She gave a paper titled 'Privileging Aboriginal Voices: Applied Theatre as Transformative Process' and presented a workshop at the International Drama, Theatre and Education Congress in Paris in July. The workshop was called 'Transformative Experiences for Aboriginal Australian Youth' and included a short film called 'Claiming Spaces', made with the involvement of first-year Bachelor of Arts (Extended) students. Rosemary also facilitated a two-day leadership program at Mt Macedon for the Indigenous Australian Entry Level Development Employment Program called 'Ready Set Go' on behalf of Murrup Barak, Melbourne Institute for Indigenous Development, the University of Melbourne.

Peter Campbell, JP, is an Honorary Research Fellow in the Melbourne Conservatorium of Music, the University of Melbourne. He continued as a member of the editorial committee for Context: A Journal of Music Research and on the organising committee for the 'Wagner and Us' symposium held in December. He is Treasurer of the Victorian Chapter of the Musicological Society of Australia, Archivist for the Australian Interschool Choral Societies Association, and Treasurer of Ensemble Gombert Inc. His motet 'Thanks be to Thee' was sung by the Canberra Choral Society in Canberra in September. Peter sang concerts with the Choir of Trinity College in Melbourne in September and in Sydney in October, and for an ABC Classic FM 'Sunday Live' broadcast in December. During November he sang services at St Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, and Advent services with the Choir of the Canterbury Fellowship. He also performed as a soloist in a concert in Canberra in December to celebrate 50 years of music-making by the composer Judith Clingan.

Barbara Cargill was appointed to the Tertiary Education Quality and Standards Agency (TEQSA) Register of External Experts, having for some years been an honorary member of their interim experts register. She conducted a number of audit and advisory activities for TEQSA within the higher education and foundation studies sectors in 2013. She also undertook a special review/audit for the Victorian Registrations and Qualifications Authority relating to aspects of independent secondary school provision and regulation.

Christopher Carolane completed a Graduate Diploma in Theology from the MCD University of Divinity in March. In January he led the Trinity College and Friends Cambodian Service Project based in Phnom Penh, Cambodia. During the year he preached at 'The Holy Church' in Phnom Penh, St Matthias' Anglican Church, Richmond, and at St Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, where he is an honorary member of the Cathedral clergy. Chris continued in his role as an examining chaplain for the Archbishop of Melbourne until June. He is also a member of the Board of the Council for Chaplains in Tertiary Institutions (Victoria). In June Chris attended the conference of European University Chaplains in Sigtuna, Sweden. During the year he received an Outstanding Contribution to Service award from the College.
